Building Maps .............................................................................. 24
The Inclusion Collaborative State Conference is an interactive and reflective educational opportunity to understand and learn evidenced based practices for individuals involved in the care and education of children from prenatal to age 24 with and without disabilities to create or enhance equity and inclusive practices in their respective programs and communities in which they live.

Conference Goals:

• Develop relationships across agencies to support inclusive practices

• Meet and learn from peers to problem solve and create inclusive programs for children from prenatal to age 24

• Understand and learn about research findings, models and evidenced-based practices to guide inclusive practices, enhance equity, policies and professional development

In-Person vs. Virtual Sessions

In-Person Sessions
There are only 350 in-person slots for on-site participants at the Santa Clara County Office of Education (SCCOE). In-person participants will have access to two keynote sessions and may select one session per time period to attend. In-person participants will also have access to all virtual sessions recording via the Inclusion Collaborative YouTube Channel immediately following the conference.

Virtual Sessions (YouTube Live Stream & Recorded)
Since there are only 350 spaces available for in-person participation, the live virtual participation is a great feature of this conference. The conference will have two keynote sessions and half of the concurrent sessions live streamed on the Inclusion Collaborative YouTube Channel. Virtual sessions will also be recorded and available to all in-person & virtual participants immediately following the conference.

Virtual Participation (Individuals & Virtual Host Sites)
Individuals can tune in live/virtually on their own computers at work sites or at home. Groups also participate at Virtual Host Sites which are typically located at County Offices of Education, Head Start locations, schools, district offices, regional centers, and other agencies. Virtual Host Sites offer the opportunity for more meaningful remote participation in the conference through networking, reflection and discussion about the sessions. Breaks and lunch can be enjoyed at the same times as the on-site conference schedule. Participation by groups may also lead to team planning for implementation of the inclusive concepts presented at the conference.

Continuing Education Units (CEUs)
We understand that acquiring new skills can promote opportunities for professional success. We offer continuing education courses to help you grow your career and enrich your personal life. Continuing education courses offer Continuing Education Units (CEUs) intended for use where employers, licensing agencies, or other professional associations require a specified number of study hours. One CEU is awarded for each ten hours of contact participation.

There are many benefits that come from taking continuing education courses, including the opportunity to make more money, gain confidence, and make yourself more desirable in the job market. If you are looking for personal enrichment, continuing education courses can give you new skills to pursue your interests in life.

Payment and registration for University of the Pacific CEUs will be available via CEU from our Sched Mobile app.

Fee: $160 (two semester units total for attending all 3 days). NO REFUNDS. MUST ATTEND ALL 3 DAYS OF CONFERENCE FOR CREDIT.

Professional Development Hours
Electronic Certificates of Completion will be distributed for each day. Attending all 3 days totals 18 hours. Please refer to Sched mobile app for further details.

Networking Tips

Focus on Learning
See networking as an opportunity for discovery and learning.

Identify Common Interests
When your networking is driven by substantive, shared interests you’ve identified through serious research, it will feel more authentic and meaningful and is more likely to lead to relationships that have those qualities too.

Think Broadly About What You Can Give
When people believe they have a lot to offer others, such as wise advice, mentorship, access, and resources, networking feels easier and less selfish. The more heartfelt the expression of gratitude, the greater its value to the recipient.

Find a Higher Purpose
The collective benefits of making connections (i.e. “support my firm” and “help my clients”). Any work activity becomes more attractive when it’s linked to a higher goal.

102. California 1 Overview: A California Equity Performance and Improvement Program (CA1-CEPIP)
The Inclusion Collaborative at the Santa Clara County Office of Education created the “California One: Highway to Success for All” project for students with disabilities, English Learners, and African American students. The grant will increase the knowledge and skills of administrators, teachers, and school staff so that they can incorporate equity and inclusion.
Presenters: Kathy Wahl, Santa Clara COE
Sung Park, Santa Clara COE
Age Level K-12th grade Track Equity Location Gilroy Room

103. Wise Inside: Combining Yoga, Art & Neuroscience for Connected Classrooms
Participants will be introduced to a gender-responsive, trauma-informed and culturally responsive curriculum called Wise Inside as a model for bringing mindfulness-based practices to marginalized girls. This curriculum uses the evidence-based Neurosequential Model of Therapeutics (NMT) as a foundation for healing traumatized youth and maximizing their learning.
Presenter: Mary Lynn Fitton, The Art of Yoga Project
Age Level Middle-High School Track Behavior & Health Location Saratoga Room

104. Bullying Prevention within Positive Behavior Support
This session will provide a thorough overview of bullying including working definitions and legal mandates, prevention and intervention strategies, and a variety of resources to help address the issue in schools. An action plan will be shared to help support efforts to strengthen schoolwide approaches and implement current best practices to prevent bullying and foster a positive school climate.
Presenter: Patricia Marquez, Santa Clara COE
Age Level All Ages Track Behavior & Health Location Milpitas Room

105. Social Skills Training for Students with Special Needs: Evidence-based Strategies that Promote Inclusion
This interactive presentation will talk about the social deficits of students with special needs and how it impacts their school inclusion. It will give teachers, paraprofessionals, parents, and caregivers, simple, easy to use, evidence-based strategies such as peer buddies, video-modeling, and activity schedule, which help students with disabilities develop social skills in practical life situations such as recess.
Presenter: Jocel Ibanez-Lazarito, San Mateo COE
Age Level TK-6th Grade Track Inclusion Toolkit Location Morgan Hill Room

106. Supporting ALL Learners through Multi-Tiered System of Support (MTSS)
The aim California MTSS is to empower districts with a framework that engages schools, families, and communities in an evidence-based, integrated, MTSS, guaranteeing ALL students access to an equitable, inclusive education focused on the whole child. California MTSS engages LEAs in a process to assess their strengths, coordinate supports to their Local Control and Accountability Plans (LCAP), and align their MTSS efforts with the eight state priorities.

107. “Including Samuel”
Before his son Samuel was diagnosed with cerebral palsy, photojournalist Dan Habib rarely thought about the inclusion of people with disabilities. Now he thinks about it every day. Shot and produced over four years, Habib’s award-winning documentary film, Including Samuel, chronicles the Habib family’s efforts to include Samuel in every facet of their lives.

108. “Resilience-The Biology of Stress & The Science of Hope”
As this documentary reveals, toxic stress can trigger hormones that wreak havoc on the brains and bodies of children, putting them at a greater risk for disease, homelessness, prison time, and early death. While the broader impacts of poverty worsen the risk, no segment of society is immune. Resilience, however, also chronicles the dawn of a movement that is determined to fight back. Trailblazers in pediatrics, education, and social welfare are using cutting-edge science and field-tested therapies to protect children from the insidious effects of toxic stress—and the dark legacy of a childhood that no child would choose.

114. “Elementary Genocide – The School to Prison Pipeline”
This film exposes the socially engineered mechanism created by our government and utilizing the public school system to label elementary aged African American males as work for hire targets within the US penal system. Many refuse to believe there is a corporate attack on the minds and productivity of Black youth through intercepting their educational, economic and social development, and resulting in statistically funneling them through the revolving doors of the criminal justice system. Elementary Genocide confirms this theory and seeks to educate parents, teachers and families, so that we can reclaim our young men and ensure the future of our community.

115. “American Teacher”
As the debate over the state of America’s public school system rages on, one thing everyone agrees on is the need for great teachers. Yet, while research proves that teachers are the most important school-based factor in a child’s future success, America’s teachers are so woefully underpaid that almost two thirds must divide their time between a second job in order to make a living. Chronicling the stories of five teachers in different areas of the country, American Teacher reveals the frustrating realities of today’s educators, the difficulty of attracting talented new teachers, and why so many of our best teachers feel forced to leave the profession altogether. But this wake-up call to our system’s failings also looks at possibilities for reform. Can we re-value teaching in the United States and turn it into a prestigious, financially attractive and desirable profession? With almost half of American teachers leaving the field in the next ten years, now is the time to find out.

308. Adolescent Touchpoints: Keeping Parents and Teenagers Connected
The Touchpoints model of development, originally described by T. Berry Brazelton, M.D. and his collaborators as a roadmap to early childhood, has applications to later development as well. The challenges and opportunities of adolescent touchpoints are more varied in their pace and sequence than those of infancy. Nonetheless, key events can be identified which, through regression, anxiety, and even panic in both adolescent and parent, bring about developmental accomplishments needed to propel the adolescent toward adulthood. The driving forces for growth include predictable physiological and cognitive changes, as well as external influences, including reflectors and reinforces of the adolescent’s new attributes. Qualitative changes occur as the adolescent bring to bear new skills and capacities on changing needs and demands. Educators and healthcare professionals can help adolescents and their parents welcome adolescence as an opportunity for growth, rather than fearing it, by joining them in preparing for the signs of change, and by anticipating stressful times to come as catalysts for development.

323. "Including Samuel"

Before his son Samuel was diagnosed with cerebral palsy, photojournalist Dan Habib rarely thought about the inclusion of people with disabilities. Now he thinks about inclusion every day. Shot and produced over four years, Habib’s award-winning documentary film, Including Samuel, chronicles the Habib family’s efforts to include Samuel in every facet of their lives. The film honestly portrays his family’s hopes and struggles, as well as the experiences of four other individuals with disabilities and their families. Including Samuel is a highly personal, passionately photographed film that captures the cultural and systemic barriers to inclusion.
